"Then there is the suffering," she continued, after a pause. "I don't know why there should be suffering, but I know if there were no suffering there would be no kindness. It is not until you are hit—hard hit—that you begin to think of other people. Until then all is selfishness. But we women—we women of the war—we have nothing left to be selfish for. But we have the whole world to be unselfish for." It's all different, and it can never go back. We won't let it go back. We've paid too much to let it go back.

It was hard to find a reply. "I think I know your husband, a little," I ventured. "He was a—wasn't he?" "He was all that," she said. She arose and stood for a moment in an attitude of hesitation; her fingers went to her lips as though enjoining caution. Then, with quick decision, she went into an inner room, from which she returned with a letter.

"If you knew him you may care to read this," she said. "It's very personal, and yet, some way, everything is impersonal now, in a sense. There has been such a common cause, and such a wave of common suffering, that it seems to flood out over the individual and embrace us all. Individualism is gone. It's the community now, the stuff, mankind, if you like, above everything. And now, as far as German Kultur stands for that, it has been imposed upon the world. So is this really, in a sense, your letter as well as mine."

I took it and read:
I have had many letters to write since my service began as a nurse in the war, but never have I approached the task with such mixed emotions. The pain I must give you I would gladly bear myself if I could; but it is not all pain, underneath it, running through it in some way I cannot explain, is a note so much deeper than pain that it must be joy.

You will already have been advised that David Elden was among those who fell at Courcellette. It is true to say you have the sympathy of a grateful nation. How grateful the nation really is we shall know by its treatment of the heroes who survive the war, and of the dependents of those who have crossed over. But nothing can rob you of the knowledge that he played a man's part. Nothing can debar you from that universal fellowship of sympathy which is springing up wherever manhood is valued at its worth.

A new Order has been born into the world; the Order of Suffering. Not that it is new, either; it has been with us since the first mother went into the shadow for her first child; but always suffering has been incidental—a matter of the individual; a thing to be escaped if possible. But now it is universal, a thing not to be escaped, but to be accepted, readily, bravely, even gladly. And all who so accept it enter in the new Order, and wear its insignia, which is itself suffering and sympathy and service. And in that order you shall not be least, measured by either your sacrifice or the spirit in which you accept it.

But you are yearning for his last word; for some voice that will lead you to you now, almost a voice from the grave, and I am happy to be able to bring you that word. It was something more than chance guiding me that night, as it is every night.

We were well behind the line of actual fighting, but still in the danger zone of artillery fire. Night had settled in; all was darkness save for occasional distant flares. I had become detached from my party in moving to another station; lost, if you like, yet not lost; never have I gone so directly to so great a destination. While trying to get my location I became aware of a presence; it will sound strange to you, but I became intensely aware of your presence. Of course I knew it could not be you, in the flesh, but you it seemed to me, nevertheless.

I moved as though led by an invisible hand, and presently I found a bit of shattered wall. In the gloom I could just discern the form of a man lying in the shelter of the wall—if you could call it shelter—it rose scarce a foot above the ground.

I knelt beside him and turned my torch onto his face. It was pale even through the brown skin; the eyes were closed; the hair was wet and was plastered on the forehead; there were stains of blood on it and on his cheeks. As my light fell on his lips they framed a smile.

"Reenie," he said. "It was good of you to come."
"I'm here, Dave," I answered, and I think you will forgive me the impersonation. "Now let me find out just where you are hurt, and we'll fix you up, and get you moved presently."

He opened his eyes and looked at me with the strange look of a man whose thread of consciousness is half untraveled. "Oh, it's you, Edith," he said, when he had taken me in. "Funny, I thought it was Reenie. I must have been dreaming."

I questioned him again about his wound, and began feeling his hair. "It's hot there," he said. "Guess I got a little over my hands. They got me this time. Strapped in the body. Don't waste time on me. Some other fellow may have a chance."

I found, with a little examination, that the case was as bad as he had supposed. Fortunately the wound had induced a local paralysis, and he was not suffering to any great degree. I placed my hand in his and felt his grip tighten on it.

"I'm going to stay 'till it's over, Dave. We'll see it through together." "That's decent," he answered, and then was still quite a time.

"I've often wondered what was on the other side," he said at length. "I shall know presently."
"You are not afraid?" I whispered. "No. Only sort of—curious. And—revere. I guess it's reverent. . . . You now I haven't been much on religion. Never seemed to get the formula. What is the formula? I mean the key—the thing that gives it all in one word?"

"In one word—sacrifice."
"I walked out of church once because of some doctrine about sacrifice," he continued. "I couldn't go it. . . . And yet—there may be something in it. Sacrifice here, Edith. War is sacrifice. Sacrifice for other people. It's not all on the surface. There's something deeper than we know."

"He that loathes his life shall find it," I quoted.
He did not answer, but I could see his lips smiling again. His breath was more labored. A few drops of rain fell, and some of them splattered on his face.

Presently he chuckled. It was an eerie sensation, out on that broad plain of death, alone by the side of this man who was already far into the shadow—to hear him chuckle.

"That splash of water—you remember—it made me think of the time we pulled the old car into the stream, and the motor broke, or something, and I had to carry you. You remember that Reenie? I could only say 'Yes,' and press his hand. His mind was back on the old, old trails."

He became suddenly sober. "And when Brover was killed," he went on, "I said it was the innocent thing that got caught. Perhaps I was right. But perhaps it's best to be caught. Not for the getting caught, but for the—the compensations. It's the innocent men that are getting killed. And perhaps it's best. Perhaps there are compensations worth while."

His voice was weaker, and I had to lean close to catch his words. "I'm going—out," he said. "Kiss me Reenie."
And then I kissed him—for you. Suddenly he sat up. "The mountains!" he exclaimed, and his voice was a thrill with the pride of his old hills. "See the moonlight—on the mountains!"

Then his strength which seemed to have gathered itself for this one last vision of the place of his boyhood, gave way, and he fell back. And he did not speak any more.

And what can I add? Dear, it is not defeat. It is promise. It is hope. It is the future we shall know. But until then we shall go on. It is woman's bit to carry on. But not in despondency; not in bitterness; not in anger or despair. He didn't go out that way. He was reverent—and a little curious, and he went out with a smile. And we shall go on, and carry his smile and his confidence through the valley of our sacrifice. What am I doing, speaking of our sacrifice?

I salute you, sister in the Order of Suffering—and of Hope.

I handed the letter back to her and for a time I had no words. "Won't you let me tell the story?" I said at length. "The world is full of sorrow, and it needs voices to give that sorrow words, and perhaps turn it into hope—as this letter does."

She hesitated, and I realized then how much I had asked. "It is the story of my life—my soul," she said. "Yet, if it would help."

"Without names," I hastened to explain. "Without real names of places or people."

And so, in that little white-washed home, where the brown hills rise around and the placid mountains look down from the distance, and a tongue of spruce trees beyond the stream stands sentinel against the open prairie, she is carrying on, not in despondency or bitterness, but in service and in hope. And so her sisters, all this world over, must carry on, until their sweetness and their sacrifice shall fill up and flood over all the valleys of hate.

And if you should chance that way, and if you should win the confidence of young three-year-old, he may stand for you and say, with his voice filled with the honor and the glory and the pride of it.
"My father was a soldier. He was killed at Courcellette."
THE END.

A Famous Motor Boat

Attains A Speed of Forty Knots With Full Armament and Crew
At the recent motor boat exhibition in London, England, the most attractive exhibit was the famous coastal motor boat C.M.B.4, from the Baltic after many cruises, during which she passed through lines of forts and torpedoed the Bolshevik cruiser Oleg. This vessel is a skinover or hydroplane of the type invented before the war for sporting purposes. It attains a speed of 40 knots with full armament and crew. The show contained many British examples of small auxiliary motors, which can be attached to rowing boats and other small craft. Some of these are installed on board and others are attached to the stern without structural alterations. One pattern, with an engine rated at 2 to 3 horse power, weighs only 60 lbs. complete with propeller and steering gear.

Waited Too Long
"Where are you going?" the dentist asked a man who started to leave the waiting-room. "I've been here 45 minutes for you to pull a tooth for me." "Well, I'm ready for you now, step in the waiting-room." "I'm not ready for you now doc. When I first came in here I was chock full of doughboy courage, but every second some of it oozed away, and now I guess I must feel about the same way a German in a dugout felt just after he had shouted 'Kamerad!' and was not certain whether the answer would be a hand grenade or an order to march to the rear."

Has Tried Them Has Faith in Them

ERNEST SMITH TALKS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Quebec Man Grateful for the Benefit He Has Received, Pays Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Grand Pabos, West Quebec, May 17th.—(Special).—Mr. Ernest Smith, a highly-respected resident here, is one of the many who have abiding faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for sick kidneys.
"I have suffered from my kidneys," Mr. Smith says, "and I read that Dodd's Kidney Pills were good, so I tried them. They have helped me so much that I will continue to use them when my kidneys trouble me." The kidneys require constant attention if good health is to be maintained and serious disease averted off. The kidneys perform a most important work in the human system. They strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood. When they are weak and unable to do their work the system clogs and sickness is the inevitable result.
Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for weak, disordered or diseased kidneys.

Submarines Losing Their Efficiency

Advantage Previously Possessed Now Steadily on the Wane

Submarines have lost two-thirds of their efficiency since 1914, according to Lieut. W. S. King-Hall, R.N., in a recent address at the Royal United Service Institute on "The Submarine and Future Naval Warfare."
The speaker maintained that the advantage previously possessed by the submarine was steadily on the wane. Whereas at the beginning of the war in 1914 it was as nine to one against the surface ship, it was only seven to three in 1919, and was likely to be only six to seven in 1930. He was of the opinion that within the next few years there would be a great development of submarine detecting apparatus which would give large and important ships a certain measure of protection against tactical attack by submarines.
He regarded as impracticable the proposal that battleships should be made submersible. He ventured the opinion that the use of gas might eventually revolutionize naval warfare much as gunpowder did when it was first introduced. It might be discharged with deadly effect on an enemy coastline. It was actually suggested during the German occupation that the Belgian coast should be "gassed," but the plan was abandoned "in deference to Belgium's susceptibility."

Political Picnic Revived

The coming summer will see a revival of the old-time political picnic. Leaders of the United Farmers of Ontario, the party now in power in the legislature, are already laying plans for these outdoor gatherings where political questions are thrashed out. Headquarters of the United Farmers of Ontario in Toronto have already received many requests for speakers for picnics in June.

Watches vary, but the average number of different parts is said to be 175. To manufacture a watch it has been estimated involves no less than 2,100 separate and distinct operations.

Fire Prevention Campaign Among Farmers

Saskatchewan Fire Commissioner Issues Special Instructions For Farm Houses

A special appeal is being made by Arthur E. Fisher, fire commissioner for Saskatchewan, to the farmers of the province to assist in reducing the fire losses by observing the spring cleanup movement. These suggestions will apply to the West generally.
"There is no class of people to whom fire prevention should appeal more than the farmers, who carry losses in mutual companies, as their premium notes are assessed in direct proportion to the losses sustained by the company," Mr. Fisher said. "In brief," he added, "the smaller the losses the less money they will be obliged to pay under the mutual system to indemnify those who have suffered losses."

Mr. Fisher announced the following as urgent suggestions which would appeal particularly to the farmers:
The barn is no place for the automobile. Build a garage.
Conserve your water supply. You may have drought or fire and need the surplus.

A pipe, cigar or cigarette has no place in the barn. Neither have greasy rags nor old coats with matches in the pockets.

Buy a fire extinguisher, but place it where you can get at it in case of fire, and see that it is frequently inspected.

Have two ladders long enough to reach the eaves of your tallest building.

Keep gasoline away from buildings and preferably underground.

Four ounces of common baking soda per gallon of water makes a splendid fire extinguisher. Four ounces of salt per gallon will keep water barrels from freezing except in extreme weather.

Keep your eye open for spontaneous combustion fires in wet grain, feed or hay.

Do not stack so that a fire will spread to your buildings. Keep straw and hay, etc., at a safe distance.

Allow no weeds or grass to grow about the buildings.

Put up "no smoking" signs about the barns and other buildings. We can supply you for nothing. Write for them.

Keep your matches in a metal box away from children.

Examine chimneys and stoves frequently.

Most losses on farm property are due to these causes, given alphabetically: adjoining buildings, ashes, children, defective flues and fire places, stoves and stove pipes, lamps, lightning, matches, rubbish and sparks. Carelessness figures in all.

China is Land Of Contrasts

Appalling Extent of Human Suffering Through the Lack Of Knowledge

(By Dr. Chas. W. Service, Chengtu, West China.)

China is a land of possibilities undeveloped but unbounded. She is a land of mighty reserve power, but this power, like that of her physical resources, has remained dormant. But she is awakening. "When China is moved it will change the face of the globe."

A superficial comparison of the social and other conditions of China with those of India might suggest a close parallel. Both have dense and numerous populations exhibiting the lowest depths of poverty. Both are deeply tainted with conditions fatal to human health and life, conditions induced by age-long ignorance of public and private cleanliness and hygiene—hence, both are cursed with leprosy, loathsome diseases of the skin and eyes. In both the masses of the population are illiterate. Both are idolatrous, priest-ridden. In both women are inferior and are miserably handicapped in the race of life. The treatment of disease is desperately evil, being controlled by gross superstition and ignorance. The resemblance, obvious, but superficial, fades when we recognize certain fundamental facts. While India shows the enervation of a tropical land, China has the energy of a colder climate. The Chinese retain a firmness of fibre, a native intelligence, a strong contrast to the apathy of the Hindus. In China the inferiority of the women does not rest upon an unchangeable religious code, but on a flexible custom. The women of China are by no means decadent or passive. While India's progress is paralyzed by caste, China has no such handicap, for the Chinese are the most democratic of people. The only aristocracy is that of learning. Idolatry, while prevalent in China, is less gross, unclean, multifarious and lascivious than in India.

A strong point of promise for the future of China is found in her native inventive intelligence and her ingenuity, and in the fact of the adaptability of her people to any environment. Civil engineers state that in less than fifty years after keen young Chinese have had access to technical schools of grade like our own, there will be no place in the engineering work of the Far East for the white expert. An aviation instructor recently said that while the Japanese are hopeless as airmen, the Chinese will make the best. In spite of the Chinese wall of inherited conservatism, in spite of the worst of conditions of human life, there is promise of the dawn of a new day for China.

While China has many strong links in her chain of strength, there is one, among others, still lacking, namely, public health. Dr. Edwards, on his return from a visit to China in the interest of a scheme for establishing a Harvard medical school at some centre in China, issued a report in which he sought to make clear the medical needs of China. He says in substance:—"Imagine the United States with its splendid institutions for the preservation and betterment of public health. Now in order to get a real conception of what China is we shall begin a process of elimination. First, we will take out of our country all the hospitals save 250; next take away every infant's hospital and every hospital that is given to taking care of the mother in her hour of need; next we must close the greater number of dispensaries for our poor people and leave them without care; then dismiss from every city the boards of health; the sewers must be filled up and all the various institutions that serve to preserve good healthful conditions for the people must be closed. Now, it seems as though that is enough to take away from our country, but we will have to do more yet. All our medical schools save a few, and those recently established, must disappear. Further, take away from our people all the scientific knowledge of how disease is caused and how it is transmitted. Then take our forlorn country and pack it full of tuberculosis, leprosy, no city without small-pox, and scatter everywhere the other diseases which we have in greater or lesser extent, then add the bubonic plague in the south, and the pneumonic plague in the north, and cholera in vast areas then all over our stricken country you must spread the loathsome leprosy; and when all that has been done summon just four times as many people, all of whom desire just as much as we to be well and strong, and whose hearts love and suffer and break even as ours, and then say 'Here's where you must live!' and that is a bird's-eye view of China."

As we view the appalling extent of human suffering, the question of Chinese remedial measures, the native practices of medicine and surgery naturally confronts us. Here we pause, unwilling to enter far into a chamber of horrors which can only inspire us with repulsion and turn sympathy into despair. Moreover, superstition and ignorance add to the appeal of woe. Nauseous concoctions of snakes' skins, tigers' claws, etc., and unnameable remedies of many kinds, cruel needlings, and cauterizations the opium evil and other vices add to the picture of horror, and one wonders how China can ever pass out of her night into the light of a better day. But when we look into the medical work of Christian missionaries we shall be convinced that ignorance and superstition have done their worst and that there is in China, as in other lands, the dawn of a better day.

Concealed Seven German Stowaways

Hoped to Bring Wives Out Later; Will Probably Be Deported

Seven stowaways who arrived recently in New York by the Red Star liner Finland, and were not discovered until the steamship was nearing quarantine awakened in the soul of her skipper, Capt. Newman, a fervent desire to know how it was possible for the seven to conceal themselves so effectively on a fourteen day trip from Antwerp, where they came aboard. The immigration inspectors also want to know the facts of the unusual case and started an investigation in conjunction with the skipper. All seven stowaways are Jews from Russian Poland, and are equipped with German passports. Under a grilling they admitted they had paid 1,340 francs to three steerage stewards who passed them into the ship at Antwerp.

The ages of the seven range from 21 to 37. Two are bakers, one is a painter and one, Solomon Marco, a furrier, said he went from Siberia to Germany, and had suffered many hardships. Three are married and said they left their wives in Germany, hoping to send for them later. They pointed out the stewards, who will be held aboard the liner until acting Commissioner of Immigration Byron H. Uhl shall decide what to do with them. The stowaways were taken to Ellis Island, and will probably be ordered deported.

Movies in Schools

Manitoba Educational Association Is Investigating Possibilities Of the Movies

The extensive general use of motion pictures in public schools in the near future, was forecasted at a recent session of the annual convention of the Manitoba Educational Association with a view to investigating the possibilities of the utilization of its advantages to the fullest extent in Manitoba.

A committee of nine leading members of the association was appointed. This committee will report its findings to the executive in December for consideration of the next annual convention.

Historic Firth of Forth

Within Great Expanse Whole Fleets May Ride at Anchor

The Firth of Forth is, of course, one of the most notable things in all Scotland. From Kincardine, where it officially begins, to that imaginary line just west of the Isle of May, from the East Neuk of Fife to the mouth of the Tyne, in Haddingtonshire, where it officially ends is a distance of 48 miles; while from shore to shore the expanse of water measures anything from one and a half miles, at Queensferry, to seventeen and a half miles off the Isle of May. Within this great expanse of water whole fleets may ride at anchor in perfect safety, and, although little is known of the great scenes which must have taken place in these waters during the last four years, the story of the Firth of Forth during the great war, culminating as it did recently in the surrender there of the German high seas fleet, will not be the least interesting of the many stories which still remain to be written.

When the "Tiger" Scored

Was Sure How the Duel Was Going To End

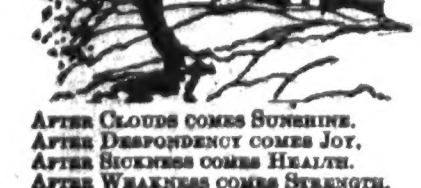

Many good stories are being printed about Clemenceau just now in the French newspapers. One of the best of them refers to one of the several duels he fought in the stormy days of the Dreyfus case.

Clemenceau arrived at the railway station—the duel was fixed to take place near a village some little way out—at the same time as his opponent.

The latter was first at the booking-office window, and asked for a return ticket to the place agreed upon. Then he stepped aside and gave place to the "Tiger," who quietly asked the clerk for a single ticket.

"Afraid you will not return, eh, M. Clemenceau?" the other said, sneeringly.

"Not at all, monsieur," was the quick response. "It is my invariable practice to make use of my opponent's return half—when I've finished with him!"

After clouds comes sunshine. After despondency comes joy. After sickness comes health. After weakness comes strength.

In the spring when you're "all in"—fagged out—blood thin, if you will turn to Nature's remedy, a tonic made from wild roots and berries, which has stood fifty years as the best spring tonic—you will find strength regained. No need to tell you it's Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, put up in tablet or liquid form, and sold by every druggist in the land. After a hard winter—shut up indoors, your blood needs a temperance tonic, a tissue-builder and blood-maker such as this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's.

SARITA, ONT.—"I was in a very bad condition. I could not eat without feeling distressed. Had indigestion so badly I was always in misery. I had liver trouble as well, and the two just put me down and out for about five years. I had many good doctors but got no relief. I took Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken two bottles I was much improved, and in less than six months I was well. I could eat anything and do my work with pleasure."

Alberta Potatoes Fetch Record Price

Twenty-eight thousand dollars have just been paid by a dealer of Yakima, Washington, for a shipment of ten carloads of potatoes grown at Edmonton, Alberta. There were approximately 7,000 bushels and the price paid was $3.90 a bushel, which is believed to be the highest on record for such a large shipment. The potatoes are to be shipped to various parts in the state of Montana.

This is not the only large shipment of Edmonton-grown potatoes, however, that has been sent to outside points. Three carloads during the past winter, have been exported to St. Joseph, Missouri, while other large quantities have also been sent to Montana and Idaho.

Conditions this spring are much more favorable for a large potato crop than twelve months ago and there is a good supply of seed potatoes, so it is only to be expected that the acreage going under crop will be exceedingly heavy.

Barley vs. Corn

Barley Is Fully Equal For Not Superior To Corn For Cattle

Feeding tests at the Wisconsin Experiment Station concerning the merits of barley for beef and pork production begun two years ago, have determined that this grain is fully equal if not superior to corn for cattle or hog feeding. A demonstration of the second test was given at Madison, Wisconsin, recently, when a drove of barley-fed cattle sold at $13.50 a hundred-weight and a drove of corn-fed cattle sold at $13.35, the same packing company buying both lots. The average daily gain on barley was 2.45 lbs., on corn, 2.03 pounds. To make one hundred pounds of beef on barley it cost $24.00, on corn, $27.40. These results corroborate the first test made during the winter of 1918-1919.

These experiments bear out the experience of farmers in Western Canada. For many years they have maintained and proved in practice that hogs finished on barley will produce bacon and hams much superior to that produced from corn-fed hogs. Barley is a uniformly successful crop in Western Canada, and is unusually plump and heavy, considerably exceeding the standard weight per bushel. The ability of farmers to grow barley so successfully in Western Canada explains their success in hog raising.

The amount of labor required to produce an acre of corn would be sufficient for growing several acres of barley, while the amount of money required to buy an acre of good corn land in the United States would suffice to pay for ten acres of equally good barley land in Western Canada. It is thus easily seen why livestock can be raised much more cheaply in Western Canada, and with the selling price being about the same in both countries why larger profits go into the pockets of the farmers in the newer country.

Alberta's Telephone System

Chicago Expert Says It Would Cost Over Thirteen Million To Replace

To replace Alberta's telephone system, it would cost $13,320,321, according to J. B. Wray, formerly Chief Engineer for the Bell Telephone system at Chicago, who recently made a thorough examination of this system.

Mr. Wray's report shows that on January 1st, 1919, there were 453,787 telephone poles, 13,400 miles of pole lines, 53,463 miles of overhead wire, 28,995 miles of overhead cables, and 24,071 miles of underground cables—a total of 106,529 miles of telephone lines. These figures themselves may not mean much to the lay mind, but they are a concrete indication of the progressiveness of the province which is covered from end to end with a network of wires making constant communication possible between even the most sparsely settled districts.

As regards the permanency of the system's construction, the report goes to state that the examination of the property showed that on the whole it has been well constructed, is well maintained, and is in first class operating condition.

Buy Motor Equipment

Purchased From U.S. Army of Occupation by a British Syndicate

The motor transport equipment of the United States army of occupation on the Rhine has been purchased by Sir Percival Perry, head of the British Motor Traders Syndicate. Many of the machines are to be sold, while others will form part of a motor transport service which will be inaugurated throughout the British Isles.

While the purchase price may not be disclosed, it is considerably more than that paid by the French for automobiles at Brest, according to Perry.

Rural Telephone Construction in Alberta

Seventy-five Hundred Miles of New Lines Being Built This Year

Tenders for the construction of 2,500 miles of rural and toll telephone lines in Alberta have been called for. This is the second telephone contract that will have been let this year, the first being for some 5,000 miles of long distance circuits, the work on which is now about half completed. It is expected that tenders will also be called this summer for still further construction of rural telephone lines.

EARLY SYMPTOMS OF BLOODLESSNESS

Shown by Pallor of the Face and Lips—How to Obtain New Blood

Anaemia, or lack of blood is so gradual in its approach that it is often well developed before the patient is sufficiently alarmed to consult a doctor or take proper treatment to restore the blood to a healthy condition.

The earliest symptom of anaemia is loss of color, especially in the lips, gums and membranes lining the eyelids. Then comes shortness of breath on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, palpitation of the heart, increased pallor of the face and lips. If this thinning of the blood is not corrected it will proceed rapidly until a complete breakdown in health follows, when there may be disorders of the stomach, headaches and backaches, dizziness and fainting spells.

The most effective and prompt way to increase and enrich the blood at a time like this is through the fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have restored to good health thousands of weak, anemic people, among them Miss Johnston, of Port Arthur, Ont., who says:—"Between the ages of sixteen and eighteen I worked in a telephone office, and it was very trying to the nerves and health. I became bloodless, and so pale that friends often said I looked consumptive. One night I had to be taken home from the office, and a doctor was called in who told me I must not go back for a time. Sometimes I would faint, and to walk up the stairs would leave me utterly breathless. I did not appear to be getting any better, one of my girls friends, whose mother had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with great benefit, advised me to try these. I took the pills very faithfully for some time, with the result that they restored me to good health, and now when anyone tells me they feel weak or rundown I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As I feel so thankful for the help they gave me, I have written you this story."

If you have any of the symptoms described by Miss Johnston try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Eat nourishing food, exercise a little in the open air, and watch the color return to cheeks and lips. You can run no risk in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial as they cannot injure the most delicate system. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at one dollar a box or six boxes for $5.00 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Heavy Horses Are Again in Demand

Transport Companies Consider Horse For a Five-mile Haul Cheaper Than a Motor Dray

J. L. Dougherty, representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture in Kent County, in an interview points out that there is a good future to breeding of heavy horses, he says: "For a few years past prices for heavy horses have not been remunerative to the breeder, hence there has been a marked decrease in the number of good heavy horses to be had. This scarcity, coupled with the fact that transport companies have found out that the horse for a five mile haul and under is cheaper than the motor-dray is resulting in increased demand and good prices for first-class animals."

"April 22nd issue of the Breeder's Gazette, published in Chicago, contains the following information relative to the horse industry: 'The Consumers Co., of Chicago, gave an order ten weeks ago for two hundred and fifteen geldings weighing 1600 pounds and over for which they are willing to pay full market prices. Notwithstanding the fact that since the time when the Consumers Co. placed their order weekly receipts at the Chicago Markets have run from 800 to 1,200 head; this company has purchased only 60 head. There are scores of other concerns in Chicago and in every city in America in a similar situation. They fully understand now the advantages that would accrue to them from the use of horses rather than trucks in the conduct of their cartage departments. The same issue contains the information that a pair of geldings came into the Chicago market last week which cost the buyer $1,350. In the country, farmers would be well advised to resume the breeding of first class heavy horses.'

Wireless Storm Signals

Ships at sea within range of British wireless shore stations are to be protected by warning radio signals whenever gales of 40 miles an hour threaten, says the May issue of Popular Mechanics Magazine, in speaking of the new admiralty plans. Using a wave length of 600 meters (1,968 feet) at full power, the safety signal will be sent out 10 times at brief intervals, followed by the warning.

World's Greatest Crisis

Red Cross League Faced With A Gigantic Task in Europe

Raymond B. Fosdick, formerly of Buffalo, and for a time acting as the undersecretary-general of the League of Nations, and who returned from Europe a few weeks ago, says in a communication to the New York Times: "No one who has been abroad in recent months, in contact with the situation in countries like Poland, Austria, Hungary, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia, can escape the belief that Europe is plunging to a catastrophe besides which political questions such as boundaries and indemnities are insignificant. So far from getting on their feet, these countries are sinking in a quagmire of non-production, starvation and disease, which only the united efforts of the rest of the world can keep from spreading."

It is Mr. Fosdick's conviction that "Europe faces a catastrophe of appalling proportions, measurable in anarchy and loss of life on a scale hitherto undreamed of." This accords in substance with the statements recently made by Henry P. Davidson, formerly chairman of the war council of the American Red Cross and now chairman of the general council of the Red Cross League, which embraces the Red Cross Societies of twenty-seven nations.

The general council of the Red Cross League declares that "any voluntary aid to become effective can only follow the provision of such essentials as food, clothing and transportation, which must be given if the people are to live and be restored to a condition of self-support, and the need of which is so vast that it cannot be given by voluntary organizations, but must be supplied by governments."

Being a "quitter" so far as co-operating with the League of Nations is concerned, the United States as a government is now facing the question of co-operating with the Red Cross League of the world in the rescue work of saving tens of millions of men, women and children from a death by famine and anarchy.—Buffalo Courier.

Canadians Praised by General Townshend

Eulogized the Canadian Corps As A Fighting Machine

A high tribute to the gallantry of the Canadian Corps was paid by Major-General Sir Charles Townshend at a luncheon given in his honor by the Canadian Club in New York City. He eulogized the Canadian Corps as a fighting machine, and in the course of his address referred to the fact that one of his ancestors fought in Canada during the early troublous pioneer days there.

There was enthusiastic cheering as the "Hero of Kut" arose to speak. He gave a graphic account of the advance on Bagdad, the retreat in the face of the overwhelming Turkish force, and the subsequent prolonged and heroic defence of Kut, followed by the surrender to the Turks.

General Townshend paid a high tribute to the treatment accorded to him by the Turks during the two years he was a prisoner in Constantinople, but he said that he nearly went mad at his enforced inactivity when all his heart was on the western front, where he longed to be. Finally when at last he reached Paris and hoped to take a hand in military events, the armistice was on the point of being signed.

Harold II., last of the native English kings, died on the battlefield after nine months' reign.

England in 1754 had a penalty of 50 pounds for advertising a reward for stolen goods with "no questions asked."

While these are the material results of Canada's first half century they do not tell the whole story. Canada has also grown in national consciousness and in national strength.

"Canada has achieved nationality though her citizens have never pitched tea into the harbor," said Lieut.-Col. J. A. Cooper, Canadian Representative at New York, in an address to the City College at the public library there. After reviewing Canada's history and development in a general way, Col. Cooper concluded as follows: "Canada is now completing the 53rd year of her history as a Dominion. In 1867, the year of confederation, her area was 377,000 square miles while today it is 3,729,000, or ten times as great. In 1867 her population was 3,500,000, as compared to 9,000,000, which is the estimate today. In 1870 her total production of wheat was sixteen million bushels, as compared with 393,000,000 bushels in 1915, the banner wheat year to date. Her export forest products have grown from an average value of $40,000,000 to an average of $150,000,000.

"While these are the material results of Canada's first half century they do not tell the whole story. Canada has also grown in national consciousness and in national strength. Retaining her heritage of British institutions and British courage and British love of law and order she exhibits to the world today a natural stability and a national cohesion that is unsurpassed by any other people in the world.

"Canada has always laid stress on individual character as well as national integrity. Whenever Canadians have gone to settle or to trade they have spread the fame of a people whose love of honesty and truth is of the highest standard.

Finally, Canada feels that she is the natural link between the two great english-speaking peoples. One hand is stretched towards that England which is the mother of us all and the other towards this great republic which is the England of the new world. While not abating one jot of her independence in thought and action, or yielding one atom of her national pride and ambition, she looks upon these two older and greater nations with filial and fraternal affection. She hopes that in the great drama of the future she will with them play an honorable and glorious part."

Canada's Dairy Products

According to statistics issued by the department of conservations during the past year, the Dominion's total dairy products were worth approximately $250,000,000, and of this amount $65,000,000 was received for export trade. In 1910 the total was less than $100,000,000, and the export trade was $24,000,000, an increase in nine years of over 150 percent. In all branches prices to the producer and consumer reached new records.

Those critics of modern times who delight in the assertion that the world is returning to primitive days, will be interested to learn from a missionary in the Northern Territory of Australia that the Aborigines have an unusual way of settling disputes. The missionary states that two representatives of the opposing parties meet with club or spear. Each kneels down alternately to receive a blow, and when one acknowledges that he is hurt, honor is satisfied and the dispute is at an end. The narrator says that he has never heard of a quarrel being re-opened after it has been settled by this "direct action."

Cooper concluded as follows: "Canada is now completing the 53rd year of her history as a Dominion. In 1867, the year of confederation, her area was 377,000 square miles while today it is 3,729,000, or ten times as great. In 1867 her population was 3,500,000, as compared to 9,000,000, which is the estimate today. In 1870 her total production of wheat was sixteen million bushels, as compared with 393,000,000 bushels in 1915, the banner wheat year to date. Her export forest products have grown from an average value of $40,000,000 to an average of $150,000,000.

"While these are the material results of Canada's first half century they do not tell the whole story. Canada has also grown in national consciousness and in national strength. Retaining her heritage of British institutions and British courage and British love of law and order she exhibits to the world today a natural stability and a national cohesion that is unsurpassed by any other people in the world.

Accommodation Needed

The managers of the Annual Bull Sale, to be held in Lacombe on May 26, 27 and 28, have a hard problem to solve, and wish the assistance of all our citizens. The sale this year is larger than ever before, more than 125 breeders bringing animals to the sale. In addition to the men having animals to sell, it is expected that several hundred buyers will attend the sale. Lacombe has very limited accommodation for visitors, and if sleeping room cannot be secured it is going to work a hardship on those who come to Lacombe, and will also hurt Lacombe's chances of retaining the bull sale, which is a splendid asset to the district. The committee in charge will send a man to every home in town, in an effort to secure accommodation for sleeping. If you have a spare room, please let him have it as it will be needed. If you are overlooked by the canvasser, kindly send in your name, and what accommodation you can spare, to N. E. Carruthers, at the town hall. The accommodation is only needed for sleeping, as meals can be secured in the town. Payment will be made at any rate that may be acceptable to those letting rooms. This is some favor for the town to ask of its citizens, but in this extremity it must be done.

Lacombe Annual Fair

A meeting of delegates from Circuit C was held in Lacombe Town Hall on Thursday afternoon last, to arrange for attractions on that circuit. Those present were Messrs. Sharp and Seabrook, Stettler, Boggs and Barnes Dayaland; Smith, Imiafall; Murphy, Donalds; Shaw, Wetaskiwin; Dameron and Welch, Lacombe. Captain Taylor, representing the Edmonton, Aero Co., was also present. The meeting was most harmonious and arrangements were made for the bringing in of Midways, Jazz Bands and other amusements. Circuit C in course of time should be a very strong one, taking in as it does all towns on the C and E from Wetaskiwin to Olds, with a few exceptions and Stettler, Donalds, Sedgewick, and Castor and other towns. The McCall Aero Co. will be at our fair with two planes, and will do several stunts each day, as well as carry passengers. This year's fair is going to be a record breaker. All the directors are getting busy, and Secretary Welch is leaving nothing to chance in the way of arrangements.

Lincoln News

Mr. J. Wilson has sold his farm and is now looking forward to enjoying a well earned rest. We understand Mr. Wilson intends going for a trip to his native country, Sweden. He left there some twenty-five years ago. We are sorry to see Mr. Wilson leave the district, but we hope he will find conditions in the home land to his liking and we wish him Good Luck and God Speed.

Mr. Pearson has moved north and is at present living with his son. Mr. Pearson sold his farm near the lake shore some time ago.

The Junior Game

The Red Deer Junior baseball team went down to defeat before the Lacombe Junior Nine in a stiff game played by them on Saturday last. The game was fairly good but the Lacombe Young Ones, were very far superior to their opponents. Notwithstanding the defeat, the Red Deer Boys showed good sportsmanship and "Played up and Played the Game" to the end. This game ended 19-7 in Lacombe's favor. This team is a credit to the town and its games should be well attended.

The L.P.S. Seniors went down to defeat on Saturday afternoon last in an exceedingly interesting game played with the Red Deer Public School Seniors. This game was well contested and until the end of the last inning no one knew which side would be victorious.

The first inning went one run in our favor, and in the next Lacombe again scored, Red Deer also scoring a run. The fourth inning ended with Red Deer leading by a score of 4 to 5. The sixth inning ended 6-6. The eighth showed Lacombe one run behind Red Deer, score being 6-7. The final inning ended with a score of 7-10 in Red Deer's favor.

A few words must be said about our High School Team. Among those of this team in the line-up were, Sammie Davidson, he never missed a ball when playing on first base. Northcott showed some sprinting ability, as also did Harry Boode. Rita could bat the ball, and he also showed a good line of pitching. Toughly played a good game and our fielders and second base men are coming Ty Cobbs. The return game will be played at Red Deer on May 24th.

Sunset News

You may use the following for publicity in your paper.

On Saturday, the 24th April, a successful programme was held at the "Sunset" school under the auspices of the local U.F.A. Songs, readings, recitations, dialogues, and speeches were the order of the evening. With the exception of the Thubron Bros of Gilby, the contributors to the evening's success were all local talent. There is an important lesson to be learnt from this one evening's social enjoyment, and that is that in our Local U.F.A. we have talent which it will pay us well to develop, and encourage.

I hope that this was only the forerunner of many such pleasant social evenings.

The next meeting of "Sunset Local" U.F.A. will be held at 8 o'clock in the "Sunset" School on Saturday 8th May. Some very important business items are on the agenda for discussion.

Lubrication is a Most Vital Factor in All Tractor Work

(By C. J. McFarlane, Calgary)

There is nothing so vital in the operation of any machinery as lubrication, and tractors are affected more severely than any other machinery on account of the dust in which they are usually working, and also the fact that they are working under a heavy load practically all the time, therefore, the life of the machine depends more absolutely on the lubrication than any other factor. The purpose of a lubricant is to reduce friction and wear by forming a film of oil between the bearing surfaces. There are certain specific properties of the oil that determine its ability to form this film and its lubricating value. A large heavy bearing under a load requires a heavier bodied oil than a light bearing. If too thin an oil is used on a heavy bearing under load, the pressure would force the oil out and the shaft would come in contact with bearing shell causing friction and wear.

The gas engine being one of the most difficult mechanisms to lubricate the oil used must possess several important properties.

1.—It must possess good lubricating qualities.

2.—It must form a film that will separate the friction surfaces.

3.—It must form a seal between the piston rings and cylinder walls to prevent the escape of gases past the piston during the compressing and power strokes.

4.—It must possess sufficient fluidity in cold weather that it will flow through the oiling system in cold weather.

5.—It must withstand high temperatures and not lose the properties necessary to accomplish the above.

6.—It must withstand service without leaving any undue amount of residue in the combustion chamber or in the pump.

In tractors especially when burning kerosene, a deposition of the fuel all ways takes place within the cylinder walls owing to the difficulty of completely vaporizing it. This fuel deposit dissolves the oil film on the cylinder walls and part of it is forced by the piston rings into the crank case diluting the oil.

In selecting oil only the best possessing the proper qualities should ever be used on a tractor motor, an automobile oil of the highest grade would not be suitable for a tractor. It is impossible for one to tell oil by examination or simple tests. The owner therefore must rely largely on the reputation of the brand of oil he buys, produced by a reliable manufacturer and sold by reliable dealers, the best oil proves the cheaper in the end. In operating in cold weather, it is not advisable to use a thin oil, but before putting heavy oil into the crank case, it should be heated (not boiled); this has proved to be very good, as the oil when motor is stopped at night can be drained very easily, and then when it is replaced in the motor it is hot and will circulate as soon as the motor starts, whereas if cold the motor until warmed up is practically operating without lubrication.

The crank case oil should be changed quite frequently, when working, especially using kerosene, and it has been found that it should be changed for every 75 to 100 gallons of kerosene used, and every 200 gallons of gasoline used.

On Our Western Farms

Announcement by the Canadian Wheat Board that the wheat participation certificates issued by it to the farmers will, it is estimated, be worth not less than forty cents a bushel, came as a welcome surprise to the wheat growers of the country. People who have followed the operations of the Board were confident that these certificates would prove of real and substantial value, but they hardly expected a forty-cent per bushel value. This sum, added to the initial payment on the basis of $2.15 for No. 1 Northern at Fort William, brings the Canadian fixed price well above the guaranteed minimum price in the U. S., and it is believed by many that in the final out-turn the average price received by Canadian farmers will be equal to the average received by the United States farmers.

The announcement means that when final settlement is made with the farmers for their 1919 wheat crop a distribution of something like $75,000,000 will take place. The three prairie provinces will, of course, receive the bulk of this large sum. It will mean much to our farmers, will give an added impetus to production throughout the West, and provides a strong argument for a continuance of the policy of national marketing of wheat, at least so long as the European importing countries maintain national buying and selling. These farmers who followed the advice tendered in this column last year to retain possession of their participation certificates, and not dispose of them to speculators for a nominal sum at a time when their value was problematical have good reason to congratulate themselves.

At no less than three different conferences to be held this summer the problem occasioned by successive crop failures in the drought affected areas of the West will receive careful consideration, with the object of endeavoring to ascertain the best methods whereby this disability may be overcome. One such conference, to be attended by officials of each of the provincial Departments of Agriculture of the prairie provinces, will be held in Winnipeg, July 14 to 18, under the auspices of the Canadian Commission of Conservation. A second conference, to be attended by experts and farmers who have succeeded in the dry areas when most of their neighbors have failed, will be held in Saskatchewan under the joint auspices of the provincial Department of Agriculture and the provincial College of Agriculture. The subject will also be considered at the land settlement congress to be held in Regina from June 8 to 11, at which there will be present representatives of the four Western provinces, the Dominion government, and, it is announced, "many of the greatest experts of the North American continent on the subject of suitable plants for dry areas."

It is known that in many of the so-called dry districts where crop failures are general, certain farmers succeeded in harvesting fairly profitable crops. It is proposed to invite these men to attend one or more of these conferences and recite their experiences, outlining their methods of farming and life nature of the crops grown by them, and then to disseminate this information among farmers generally in the districts referred to. All farmers who have succeeded where others have failed have a patriotic duty to perform in assisting these conferences by every means at their disposal in finding a solution of one of the greatest problems confronting the West.

Although it is yet early to hazard a guess as to the extent of the acreage to be seeded to wheat in Western Canada this year, it is probably quite safe to assume that the preliminary government estimates of a considerable decrease in acreage are correct. The late season has prevented much spring plowing, which will result in a decreased wheat acreage, but reports indicate that the seed is going into the ground well supplied with moisture and under satisfactory conditions, which only requires suitable weather to yield a bountiful crop. At the same time a large decrease in the wheat crop of the United States is anticipated this year, there having been a heavy falling off in the winter wheat crop.

One result in the West will undoubtedly be a substantial increase in the acreage sown to oats and other coarse grains. This will have a beneficial effect, as the past few years have revealed a lamentable shortage of feed grains which has had an adverse effect owing to the rapid manner in which these western provinces are coming to the front in the production of livestock of all classes.

Rural Depopulation in Ontario

Rural Schools Tell the Tale of Migration to Urban Centres

Figures given at the opening of an Ottawa school by Mr. Grant, the minister of education, are the most sadly eloquent that have come from any responsible source for many days. Last year Ontario had, out of a total of 5,757 rural schools, five schools with an average attendance of one pupil, 12 schools with an average attendance of two, 35 schools with three, 46 schools with four, 79 schools with five, 479 schools with six, and 1,400 schools with less than ten pupils.

A colonel of the great war lately visited the schoolhouse in which he taught thirty years ago. Where he had a daily roll of forty-five scholars his successor could muster only fifteen. Some time ago a western farmer returned to the township where he grew into manhood. It is on the Huron shore, north of Goderich. Along four miles of the stone road, in his time, there were 104 children attending school. The number had dwindled to four.

Settlers for Peace River

Trains Leaving Edmonton Crowded To Capacity With Best Type

According to J. D. McArthur, president of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Railway, the Peace River and Grand Prairie country is on the eve of a forward movement. In the course of a short interview, Mr. McArthur said: "The railway is at its wits' end to accommodate new settlers for this country. Trains leaving Edmonton are crowded to capacity with the best type of settlers. Four and five hundred people are packed on the train and it is impossible with our present equipment to cope with the question even of feeding them. If this tide of immigration continues, something must be done at once to relieve the congestion." Regarding the traffic prospects generally, Mr. McArthur said that they were never brighter. For over a year earnings had been over operating charges.

No Contract Breaker

Foundations of Free Government Tested and Not Found Wanting

Trades unionism in the United States and Canada has fought a good fight with anarchy within its own ranks and proved that labor will keep its contracts.

A light arises amid all the darkening signs of the times. That light shines out of the collapse of the outlaw strike on the American railways, and the fate of the same variety of miners' strike in the Montreal Star office. The foundations of free government were tested and not found wanting in an industrial crisis. Labor proved its power to produce and follow a leadership of honor and self-interest.—Toronto Telegram

The Prince of Wales and the Australian "Digger" are old friends. They shared the mud of Flanders and the trenches of France, but the Prince and the Australian "Blue Jacket" have yet to gain the same friendly understanding. When the royal guest reaches Melbourne he will be given an opportunity of seeing the remarkable growth of Australia's fleet, for he will review something like 30 warships in Port Phillip Bay. Probably the contrast between the huge Roon and the war-worn battle cruiser Australia will serve to point a lesson already emphasized by Lord Jellicoe—that the day of the great battleship is still with us. One thing the Prince will not bear—the customary salute of 21 guns; out of deference to the men recovering from shell-shock.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood, and the child suffering from it cannot thrive. To keep the children well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are absolutely safe and never fail to relieve constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fever. Concerning them Mrs. Jules Gaudreau, Nemadungue, Que., writes: "My baby was terribly constipated and suffered day and night. I was advised to give him Baby's Own Tablets and from the first they helped him and now at the age of thirteen months he is a big, healthy, happy boy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

He had Met Him

The premier of South Africa, Gen. Smuts, is a hard worker and thoroughly unaffected. Consequently, says Tit-Bits, he hates gush.

"Let me see," said a high and mighty young officer who sat next to him at a reception in London shortly after the Boer war, "haven't we—ah—met somewhere?"

"Yes," replied the General. "Thought so," remarked the officer, adding with a bored air, "One meets so many people! Let me see, where did we meet?"

"In South Africa," retorted the general curtly. "You surrendered to me during the war."

Balance of Naval Power

Britain Will Not Compete With U.S. Or Japan

It has never been the custom of nations to build against allies, and therefore there is no possibility of competition with Japan; and the United States is something more than an ally, and we can therefore rule out the American navy.

Whether the league of nations becomes an effective instrument for composing the quarrels of nations or not, it is impossible that any circumstances should justify the two English-speaking nations in going to war. We are forced by every consideration, therefore, to rule out any thought of competition in naval armaments with the Americans and the Japanese. We have never measured our naval strength against that of the United States and Japan. Why should we do so now?

What other navies of the first-class remain? There are only two—the French and the Italian—and both of these countries, which are in alliance with us, have been forced by their absorption in the war on land to neglect their naval forces. We have inherited from the war a navy so strong in ships and in men that there is no occasion for anxiety as to the immediate future. We can adjust a two or three power standard in our minds, and yet find that the actual strength goes far beyond it. We possess a supreme fleet with a margin of safety which is indeed larger than ever existed before. What we have to do is to keep alive the naval spirit in this country, and maintain the navy league in an efficient condition, so that if the occasion arises, owing to any change in the international situation, as it may well arise sooner than some of us imagine, the whole organization may be mobilized and used in any emergency.—Archibald Hurd in "The Navy"

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR MAY 23
ISRAEL'S FIRST KING

I. The People Demand a King (vv. 8-19).

1. Their reasons for this demand. (1) Samuel was incapacitated by old age; (2) The unfaithfulness of his sons whom he had appointed as his successors; (3) The desire to be like other nations. The surrounding nations had a king as leader. They wanted a king who would go out and fight their battles (see v. 20). (The desire to be like others causes many to depart from the Lord.

2. Samuel's behavior under this trial (vv. 6-9). He took the matter to the Lord in prayer. The Lord comforted him by assuring him that this rejection was not merely his rejection but the rejection of the Kingship of God.

II. Samuel Tells of the Manner of the Kings (vv. 10-18).

He shows them that the king will be very exacting and arbitrary in his dealing with them.

1. He will take their sons and make them to serve in the army and do all kinds of hard work on his farm and in his house. He will also make slaves of their daughters also.

2. He will take their lands, even those inherited from their fathers and give them to his favorite officers and servants. Not content with that he will take the tenth part of the produce that remains and give to them.

III. Samuel's Protest Disregarded by the People (vv. 19-22).

Having made up their minds they deliberately shut their eyes to the truth and rushed madly into the experiment. Men today just as deliberately are turning from God's King, going after the lusts of their own hearts, but God makes the wrath of men to praise him.

IV. The King Provisionally Pointed Out (1:10-16).

Saul was sent by his father to look for the asses that had wandered away. While Saul and his father were acting freely in this matter, at the same time God's sovereign purpose was being carried out. Although difficult to understand, God carries forth his sovereign purpose without interfering with man's freedom.

V. The King Chosen at Mizpeh (10:17-27).

The Lord had already pointed out to Samuel who should be king and Saul had been anointed. Let us observe:

1. Why Saul was chosen. If they would have a king the Lord would give them the one best suited to fill the place. He was from Benjamin, a small tribe, which would prevent undue rivalry between Ephraim and Judah, the leading tribes of Israel, he was also chosen because of his personal fitness (v. 24). He had the natural qualifications for his work, namely: self-control, modesty, and a military instinct.

2. How Saul was chosen. The method was by lot. Samuel called them together before the Lord, and before lot was cast he again remonstrated with them against such action. He showed them the base ingratitude of their rejection of God as their King.

3. How the king was received by the people. Saul knew that the Lord had chosen him, but through modesty and fear he shrank from the responsibility. By inquiry of the Lord his hiding place was made known. When he was brought forth Samuel presented him to the people, assuring them that Saul was the Lord's choice. Some were enthusiastic in their reception, and shouted, "God save the king!" Others mocked and refused him allegiance.

VI. The King Confirmed at Gilgal (ch. 11).

Soon after the election at Mizpeh the Ammonites made a desperate demand upon the men of Jabesh-Gilead, hearing of it, hastily summoned the tribes together for war and won a remarkable victory. As he thus proved his ability, the people wished to punish the sons of Belial, but Saul forbade them. Samuel took advantage of this auspicious situation and called all the people together at Gilgal where they formally crowned him their king.

Faint and Dizzy Spells. Weakness and Shortness of Breath.

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation, etc.

Many men and women become rundown and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy, if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of heart weakness.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes: "I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had these fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up. When I was walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much."

Research in Corrosion

Investigations Being Made by Strong Committee

At the recent congress of the British Institution of Metals a valuable report was read on the corrosion of condenser tubes—a subject in which so many engineers are keenly interested. This report was the fifth of a series, regarding researches undertaken by a special committee of the institute. Experiments have been made with alloys of copper and zinc, and many suggestions made for avoiding or reducing corrosion. In the British navy trials are being made with exidized tubes, and a British company has been formed to exploit an electrolytic process which deposits and maintains a protective layer of lime on the surface of the tube.

Beautifying the Cities Of Saskatchewan

Many Saskatoon Residents Planting Trees and Shrubs This Spring

This season has already seen an unprecedented demand on the part of the citizens of Saskatoon, for shrubbery and small trees for planting purposes, states the city gardener. Plans are under way in the city to cope with the greatly increased demand, and this year there will be more than 200,000 trees and shrubs planted at the city greenery.

Cuttings which are planted this year consist of poplar, honey suckle, lilacs and willows and judging from results on a small scale in the past, this will soon grow to a matter of primary interest in Saskatoon, where the love of beautiful homes has grown rapidly during the past year or two.

In addition to this the parks board has purchased large quantities of elm trees and caraganas, and these will be cultivated with special care, as well as distributed to the citizens who wish to purchase. They are being handled at the cost price, the aim of the board being to clear expenses and beautify the city at all events.

The Ministry of Transport in Great Britain is giving careful attention to the possibility of building a dam across the estuary of the Severn in order to generate electric power from the tidal waters. The ministry has also formed a strong committee to examine the ambitious schemes for electrification put forward by several British railway companies and to lay down principles which will lead to uniformity in electrical and mechanical matters so that through running will eventually be feasible.

A Newspaper's Value

Every newspaper has value as an advertising medium because every newspaper is read by people who prefer it to every other newspaper—who believe in it—who boost it—who insist that it has qualities which satisfy, entertain, instruct and inspire them. You cannot part a man or a woman from his or her own favorite newspaper any more than you can separate members of families who are linked together by affection.—W. C. Freeman.

"No mixed grains containing wheat, grown in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, shall be exported out of Canada with a license of permit of the board."

"Each mill licensee who grinds wheat for farmers or other owners thereof and returns to such owners the whole of the actual product of such wheat, shall not be required to issue participation certificates or to remit to the board the $1 on such wheat, provided, however, that each mill licensee must furnish a weekly statement showing 'farmer's' name or other owner of wheat grinded, and the quantities of wheat grinded; and quantity of flour, offal or other product returned to the owner of the wheat gristed."

Canadian Boats Shipping Grain

An interesting statement was made in the house of commons recently by Sir George E. Foster, acting premier, regarding the total export of Canadian grains in Canadian ships as compared with the export in United States vessels. The minister stated that 9.55 percent of the wheat exported was carried in Canadian bottoms as well as 85.94 percent of export oats and 89.65 percent of barley.

Millers Interested In Wheat Control For Next Crop

Ottawa, Ont.—Members of the Dominion Millers' association conferred with Sir George Foster on the question of whether the existence of the Canada wheat board should be continued for the purpose of marketing the crop of 1920. The millers, it is said, are not all agreed on the subject. Some favor the continuance of control and some do not. They are unanimous, however, in asking the government to make a decision at as early a date as possible.

The millers also pointed out to the minister of trade and commerce disadvantages under which they are laboring on account of the lessened demand in foreign markets for flour as compared with the demand for wheat. They are inclined to contend that the rates are unduly high as compared with those on wheat. Rates on flour are higher than those on wheat because of the difficulty in handling the former commodity as compared with the latter. The millers, however, feel that the margin of difference is too great. Sir George Foster promised consideration of their complaint.

Strong Hand in Ireland

Sir Nevil Macready Will Take Over Control of All Police Functions

London.—Accepting at its face value the claim Sinn Féin has been trying to prove by speech and act that an actual Irish republic is at war with the British empire, the government will abandon its present plan for handling crime on the island. To this end all arms of the British army in Ireland are being tremendously strengthened. This applies especially to cavalry and motor machine gun outfits.

As soon as the force there is adequate it will, under the command of Sir Nevil Macready, take over all the police functions. In fact it was said that southern Ireland may then be placed under martial law. This would be nothing more or less than notice to the Irish volunteers that their challenge has been accepted and that the government troops would meet rifle and revolver fire with machine guns and possibly shrapnel.

Funeral of Princess

Prince Arthur of Connaught Was Present at Funeral of His Sister at Stockholm

Stockholm.—The kings of Norway and Denmark, Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Earl of Onslow, representing the King of England, and the diplomatic corps of other countries attended the funeral services of the late crown princess Gustav Adolphe of Sweden.

Enormous crowds were massed along the flower-strewn route from the royal castle. The procession started shortly after 2 o'clock to the cathedral where the service was conducted by the Archbishop of Upsal, and a British chaplain.

E. Prisquiri, financial agent for the revolutionary movement here.

New York.—Tenants have purchased more than $75,000,000 worth of realty in New York in the last year under the co-operative ownership plan as a protest against high rentals, it has been learned.

May Discuss Anglo-Japanese Alliance Question

London.—The question whether there is to be a continuance of the Anglo-Japanese alliance is being brought before the British public by the presence of W. A. Watt, treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth in England. Mr. Watt arrived in London this week and has given out a number of interviews in which he urged closer co-operation between Great Britain and her Dominions with regard to foreign policies, and emphasized Australia's determination to remain a "white man's country." At a dinner given in his honor which was attended by the Viscount Milner, secretary for the colonies, and numerous other men in public life, Mr. Watt in an address said:

Police Inspector to Stand Trial

Judge Refused to Dismiss Charge For Failing to Suppress Undesirables

New York.—Judge Malone, in the court of general sessions, denied a motion to dismiss the charge against Police Inspector Dominick Henry, formerly commander of the "Tenderloin," charged with neglect of duty in New York's vice war by failing to suppress undesirables in his district. The lawyer for the defence declared that there was no regular immoral establishments in the district. The men and women who went there for immoral purposes could not be legally raided by the police.

Premier Borden Returns

Has His Old Vigor and Declares He Is Now in Perfect Health

Ottawa.—Bronzed and apparently in excellent health, Sir Robert Borden has arrived in Ottawa.

Sir Robert showed no traces of the illness which had necessitated his five months' holiday. He had the old vigor and to all queries he smilingly replied that his health was of the best. His arrival was the occasion of a celebration by his supporters. Headed by Sir George Foster and members of the cabinet, they gathered on the platform to welcome him back to Ottawa. As Sir Robert and Lady Borden stepped off the car there was a round of cheering. On the platform with the Unionists was Dr. Clark, member for Red Deer, and prominent in the National Progressive party. It was Dr. Clark's birthday. Sir Robert and he laughingly congratulated each other.

"You look younger than I do," Dr. Clark observed.

Huge Deficit of C.N.R.

Report of Earnings and Expenses for Past Year Tabled in The House

Ottawa.—Gross earnings of the Canadian Northern railway for the year ended December 31, 1919, were $53,562,177.57, according to the fifth annual report of the directors tabled in the house by Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways.

These were derived as follows: From passenger traffic, $10,775,708.46; from freight traffic, $39,175,555.00; express, mail and telegraph, $1,538,902.18; miscellaneous, $3,337,014.81.

In addition, there were interest and other subsidiary companies that contributed the balance.

Working expenses amounted to $60,034,023.92, and hire of equipment, taxes, rentals, and miscellaneous operations, $1,020,553.61, making the total expenses $61,054,577.00. The deficit was $5,769,647.70, and interest charges $19,969,710.36, a total deficit of $25,670,358.06.

The director's call attention to the fact that the report covers only the operation of Canadian Northern railway lines.

The total mileage operated at the end of the year was $9,685.7, compared with $9,566.5 at the end of 1918, being an increase of 119.2 miles. The average mileage in operation throughout the country was 9.68 miles.

Mennonites Would Like to Stay

Reported to Have Asked Manitoba Government For Tract Of Land

Winnipeg, Man.—The Mennonite situation took a further new turn when it was learned that during the past few days, despite reports to the contrary, it has become evident that the Mennonites in Manitoba do not wish to leave the province, but would prefer to make a change in the location of their colony from the present well-settled district to some more remote portion.

They have asked the provincial government, it is stated, to go over the map of the province, and if a tract of country could be found where there were no settlers and where settlers would not go because of the rigorous climate, or the poor quality of the land, to allow them to take it over with the privileges of education and religion which are denied them in their present location in southern Manitoba.

The Mennonites, it is declared, possibly have in mind the large tract of open country bordering on the Hudson's Bay. The provincial government, however, has not entertained for a moment any idea of such concessions.

Serious Shortage of Farm Labor

Winnipeg.—Only about 40 percent of Manitoba's wheat lands can be worked this season unless there is a marked increase in the number of the people willing to go to work on farms during the next few weeks. Manitoba farmers say.

According to T. J. Mather of the Dominion employment bureau, the situation left vacant during the last week is nearly three times the number of applicants placed.

The incidence ratio among the British expeditionary force was 614 per 1,000 (six decimal fourteen). Incidence in Canadian expeditionary force was 120 percent greater than in British expeditionary forces.

Sheriff Gets Ex-Kaiser

Imperial Throne and Trappings to be sold by Auction in New York

New York.—The Imperial German throne is to be sold here at auction. The goods of the former kaiser and kaiser and former members of the German Imperial family, seized from the Imperial palaces of Berlin and Munich, for unpaid bills after the emperor abdicated and went to Holland, will be sold under the hammer here May 22, at one of the city's largest art galleries, it was announced.

Sixty-five pieces are in the Imperial collection, which was brought here two weeks ago by the purchaser and importer, Valdemar Pevelson. He declared he had considerable difficulty in getting an export permit from the German government which was against this, but he had promised to buy food with the net profits for resale in Germany.

Authenticity of the art objects is vouched for by one of Berlin's most reputable art firms.

Three complete salons with portraits embossed with German eagles, wall hangings, rugs made to order in the Orient for the former kaiser, and antiques which have belonged to the Imperial German and Bavarian families for centuries, are said to be included in the collection. These sets of furniture were in the collection, the throne of red plush, embroidered with Prussia eagles, also, are advertised for sale.

According to Mr. Pevelson, the ex-kaiser was not always prompt about paying his bills. Immediately upon his flight to Holland, patience was exhausted and creditors seized household belongings in payment for the accounts.

Manitoba Postpones Livestock Sale

Postponement was decided on so as not to conflict with the sale at Saskatoon and to make possible the attendance of the Dominion government buyers. ### British Oil Wells

London.—Eleven oil wells drilled in Great Britain have produced a hundred thousand gallons of oil.

Sword of Honor for General Currie

Officers Who Served Under General Currie in France Pay Tribute on His New Appointment

Montreal.—Officers who served under General Currie in France took advantage of his presence in Montreal in connection with his appointment to the principality of McGill University to present him with a sword of honor and an illuminated address at a banquet at the University club.

The historic significance of the latter is apparent when it is stated that it bears the signatures of every officer who held an important command or appointment in the Canadian corps when the "cease fire" sounded.

Friendly Relations Restored

Japanese and Russians Have Signed Agreement to Prevent Conflict

San Francisco.—The military commissions of Japan and Russia, which have been negotiating in Vladivostok, "with a view to the restoration of friendly relations and the prevention of future conflicts," signed an agreement on April 29 last, according to a statement by T. Ohts, Japanese consul-general here. The agreement was embodied in 12 articles and states:

The authorities concerned on both sides shall, through proper channels, issue orders for the suspension of the existing state of belligerence.

The groups of armed Russians shall withdraw from districts specified.

All arms and other war materials of the Russian army found in said districts shall be seized by the Japanese troops and the disposition of same shall be determined later on.

Lively Irish Meeting

Many Questions Were Asked Crawford and Irwin by Winnipeg G. W. V. A.

Winnipeg.—Lindsay Crawford, of Toronto, and the Rev. Dr. A. H. Irwin, Presbyterian minister of county Antrim, Ireland, addressed a meeting of between two and three thousand here on the Irish question, arguing in favor of self-determination. There were frequent interruptions, especially when the speakers touched upon what might be called modern aspects of the question, and at the conclusion they were peppered with questions until practically all the audience began to leave. There was nothing in the way of disorder, although if the police, six or seven of whom were present, had heeded the cries of the more vehement supporters of the visitors to throw the interrupters out, the operation might have been attended with more serious consequences as quite a few of them were the button of the Great War Veterans' association. It was these who interjected the questions in Mr. Crawford, "Where were you in the war," and who asked, "Why did the south of Ireland supply gasoline to the German submarines in the war?"

Dr. Irwin denied the statement that he had been refused his passports by the British government and said he had come across the ocean for the benefit of his health. As he was here, he went on to say, he considered it his duty to explain the Irish situation.

To Govern Selling Of Canadian Fruit

Quart Boxes Smallest Allowed Under The Proposed Legislation

Ottawa.—Canadian fruit, owing to its luscious nature, must now be sold in less than quart boxes if suggestions made before the agricultural committee of the commons are followed. It is explained that raspberries and strawberries, especially from Ontario and British Columbia, were of such a luscious nature that it was impossible to get more than two-fifths of a quart into a box without damaging a portion of it. The committee decided to standardize fruit containers to meet this condition. Berries and currants, after June 1, this year, will be sold in four-fifths of a quart, one pint and two-fifths of a quart boxes. The minister of agriculture, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, will have power to make new regulations as the necessity may arise.

Carranza Said to be Surrounded

El Paso, Texas.—President Carranza, of Mexico, is surrounded and in desperate straits at Rinconada, near Esperanza station, in the state of Puebla, according to a telegram from General Alvaro Obregón, received by Robert V. Pezpiri, financial agent for the revolutionists here.

Predicts Dry Scotland

New York.—"Prohibition will soon come to Scotland," was the prediction made by Magistrate James Gardiner of Glasgow, on his arrival here. "Recent plebiscites of workingmen show that when the time comes to vote, prohibition will be carried two to one," he said.

Raider Moews at Firth of Forth

Firth of Forth, Scotland.—The German raider Moewe, which sank so many allied ships during the war, has arrived here. It has been surrendered to the naval authorities.

Large Sum For Carrying on Work Of Agriculture

Appeal Bill is Withdrawn

Hartley Dewart Condemns Bill as the First Thing to Disrupt British Empire

Toronto.—Hon. W. E. Raney withdrew in the legislature his bill to abolish appeals to the privy council from Ontario.

He was asked by R. R. Hall, Parry Sound, if he considered this a self-governed country when the highest court of appeal was in England.

"I think you will soon see the governor-general appointed on the nomination or recommendation of the privy council of Canada," he said.

H. H. Dewart condemned Mr. Raney's bill as the first thing to disrupt the British Empire. The right of appeal is the most sacred possession of Canadian citizens and he challenged Mr. Raney to show what right existed to take it away.

Mr. Raney said the right to appeal from the Canadian criminal code had been taken away. Why not, then, the right to appeal in litigation?

Mr. Dewart said a former criminal lawyer had proven that criminal cases could be appealed to the privy council.

New Cent Coinage

Circulation Will Not Begin Until the End of Month

Ottawa.—Authority has been given for the issue of the new Canadian cent on and after May 15. The coin will not, however, actually be in circulation till toward the end of the month.

The cent will be slightly larger than the Canadian 10-cent piece or three-quarters of an inch in dimension. It will bear the following design:

Obverse impression: His Majesty's crowned effigy, consisting of head and bust, wearing the royal robes and looking to the left, with the inscription: George V Dei Gra: Rex et Ind. Imp.

Reverse impression: The words one cent supported by a maple leaf on either side, and bearing the word Canada above and date of issue below.

Distribute Seed Grain

Requirements of Settlers in Alberta Have Been Supplied

Edmonton, Alta.—The distribution of seed grain for settlers' spring requirements throughout Alberta has now been completed, and the department of agriculture is calling in its field men. The total supplies of seed given out this season have not yet been tabulated, but it is estimated by officials of the department that they will represent a money value of close to $750,000, which is about twice the expenditure of last year and the largest of any one year since the government undertook this method of relief. All the grain thus supplied for seeding purposes has been Alberta grown.

New York Saloons Run Full Blast

New York.—Saloons in this city are running full blast with abundant liquors of the very worst kind because of lax enforcement of the prohibition law. Judge Charles C. Nott declared in general sessions court in imposing sentence of seven to fourteen years on Frank Murray who pleaded guilty to first degree manslaughter.

Municipality Rights

Ottawa.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, has secured the first reading of a bill which seeks to give municipalities the same rights as hitherto enjoyed by the provinces in the matter of regulating employment offices.

Police Barracks Destroyed In Raids In Ireland

Dublin.—Fifty police barracks were destroyed in the raids on Wednesday night, according to an official statement issued from Dublin Castle today. Twenty income tax offices were raided and the documents burned and seven court houses were also attacked.

The destruction of police barracks as shown by the Castle communication, was on almost as great an organized scale as similar attacks last Easter, when more than sixty barracks were attacked. Most of the barracks in the present case had been abandoned and no loss of life was entailed.

Several attacks occurred in the counties of Antrim, Cork, Leitrim and Wexford, where one or two barracks

Ottawa.—Dr. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, in a comprehensive statement, moved the agricultural estimates. He stated the total agricultural wealth of today at $7,379,299,000, and stated that there were $53,144,640 acres of land under field crops in 1919. The value of agricultural products of last year was $1,975,841,000, exceeding the country's mines and forests and fisheries wealth figures for which were quoted by the minister.

Dr. Tolmie was asking for a total vote of $3,903,000 to carry on the work of the department for the present year. This is somewhat larger than the vote last year, which amounted to $3,648,000. The first item on the list, and the largest, was a vote of $1,200,000 for experimental farms, and it brought forth a great deal of comment from the members in all parts of the chamber.

"W. H. White, of Victoria, who followed the minister, deprecated the general breeding of purebred stock, to which the minister had referred before, remarked that Dr. Tolmie regarded the cattle business more with the eye of a showman than a practical cattle man.

Other members, while expressing appreciation of the way in which the minister had spoken on the subject, made special requests for the establishment of experimental farms in their sections of the country, and Hon. T. A. Cramer suggested that greater co-operation should be obtained between the federal and various provincial departments of agriculture in experimental farm work.

Mr. Cramer also said that the government should discontinue subsidies for privately owned cold storage plants. These were operated more for the benefit of the owners than of the public and the encouragement of plants under municipal ownership and co-operative enterprise would be more desirable.

J. H. Burnham, Peterboro, interrupted at one stage of the debate to remark that, with all this important debate going on in regard to agriculture there was not a single member of the Farmers' party present. "They might do the house and the minister the justice of lending their presence," he suggested.

Soviets Grant Concession

Bolshevik Authorities Have Agreed To Save Lives of All Anti-Soviet Soldiers

London.—Bolshevik authorities have agreed to spare the lives of soldiers separated from General Denikin's army in Southern Russia, and those of other anti-Soviet troops, who may in future be taken prisoner. A note to this effect was today received by British Officials in answer to a message to the Russian officials. This is the most satisfactory note on this subject yet received from the Soviet government, and officials hope protection can soon be guaranteed to Denikin's men with trade agreements or other concessions to the Soviet government.

Britain Sells Subs to Chile

Buenos Ayres.—Despatches from Santiago say official confirmation has been given of reports that the British government has offered Chile a number of submarines of the latest type. The price for the submarines will be low, the despatches add, and Chile will be given easy terms in payment for them.
